Vermont Daily Transcript,

WILBUR P. DAVIS, | Editors. ALMONT BARNES,

Domini, 1861, in accepting the condition of civil war which was brought on by insurrection and rebellion in several of the States which constitute the United States, the two Houses of Congress did solemnly declare that the war was not waged on the part of the Government in any spirit of oppression nor for any purpose of conquest or subjugation, nor for any purpose of overthrowing or in-terfering with the rights or established institutions of the States, but only to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution of the United States and to preserve the Union with all the dignity, equality and rights of the severai States unimpared, and that as soon as those objects should be accomplished, the war on the part of the Government

And whereas, the President of the Boots and Shoes, Rubber Coats United States has heretofore, in the spirit of that declaration, and with the view of securing for it the ultimate and competent effect set forth in the several proclamations offering amnesty and pardon to persons who had been, or were concerned in the aforenamed rebellion, which proclamations, however, were amended with prudential reservations, and exceptions, then deemed necessary and proper and which proclamations were respectively issued on the 8th day of December, 1863; on the 26th day of March 1864; on the 29th day of May, SPRING 1865, and on the 7th day of September,

And whereas the said lamentable civil war has long since altogether ceased, with an acknowledgment by all the States of the Supremacy of the Federal Constitution and of the government thereunder, and there no longer exists any reasonable grounds to apprehend a ground of the government thereunder. renewal of said civil war, or any foreign interference, or any unlawful resistance by any portion of the people of any of

And whereas, it is desirable to reduce the standing army and to bring a speedy termination to military occupation, martial law, military tribunals, abridgement of the freedom of speech and of the press and suspension of the privilege of habeas corpus and of the right of trial by jury, such encroachments upon our free institutions in time of peace being dangerous to public liberty, incompatible with the individual rights of the citizen, contrary to the genius and spirit of our Republican form of Government and exhaustive of the National resournesty and pardon will tend to secure a complete and universal establishment and prevalence of municipal law and order in conformity with the Constitution of the United States, and to remove all appearances and presumptions of a ment of Gold and Silver American all appearances and presumptions of a retaliatory or vindictive policy of the Government, attended by unnecessary disqualifications, pains, penalties, confirmations and disfranchisement, and on the contrary to promote and procure a complete fraternal reconditation among the whole people, with due sub-mission to the Constitution and the

Now, therefore, be it known that I Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do, by virtue of the Constitution, and in the name of the people of the United States, hereby proclaim and declare unconditionally, and withof the United States, hereby proclaim and declare unconditionally, and without reservation, to all and to every per-son who directly or indirectly partici-pated in the late insurrection or rebellon, excepting such person or persons as may be under presentiment or indictment in any court of the United States having competent jurisdiction upon a charge of treason or other felony, a full pardon and amnesty for the offense of treason against the United States, or of adhering to their enemies during the late civil war, with the restoration of all rights of property, except to slaves, all rights of property, except to slaves, and except also to any property of which any person may have been legally divested under the laws of the United
